I got to these configuration menus in Win 7 by typing joy in the search menu and then going to set up USB game controllers. The selecting each controller and the properties to see these menu's.

This is the Logitech with no controls activated is

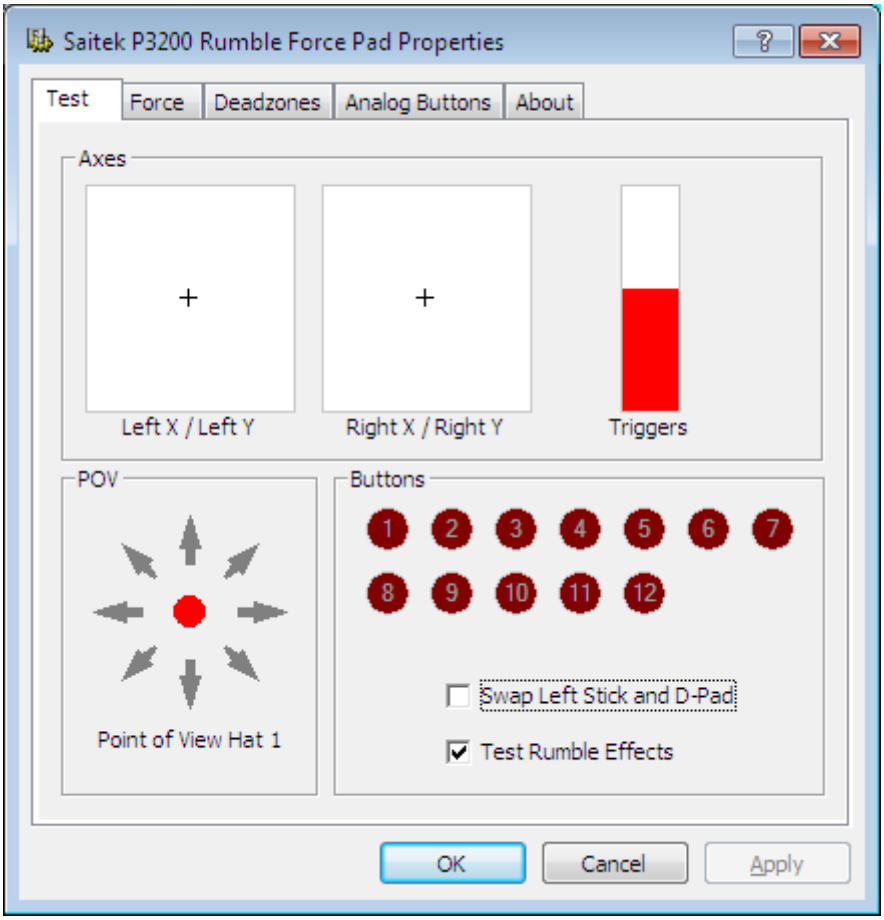
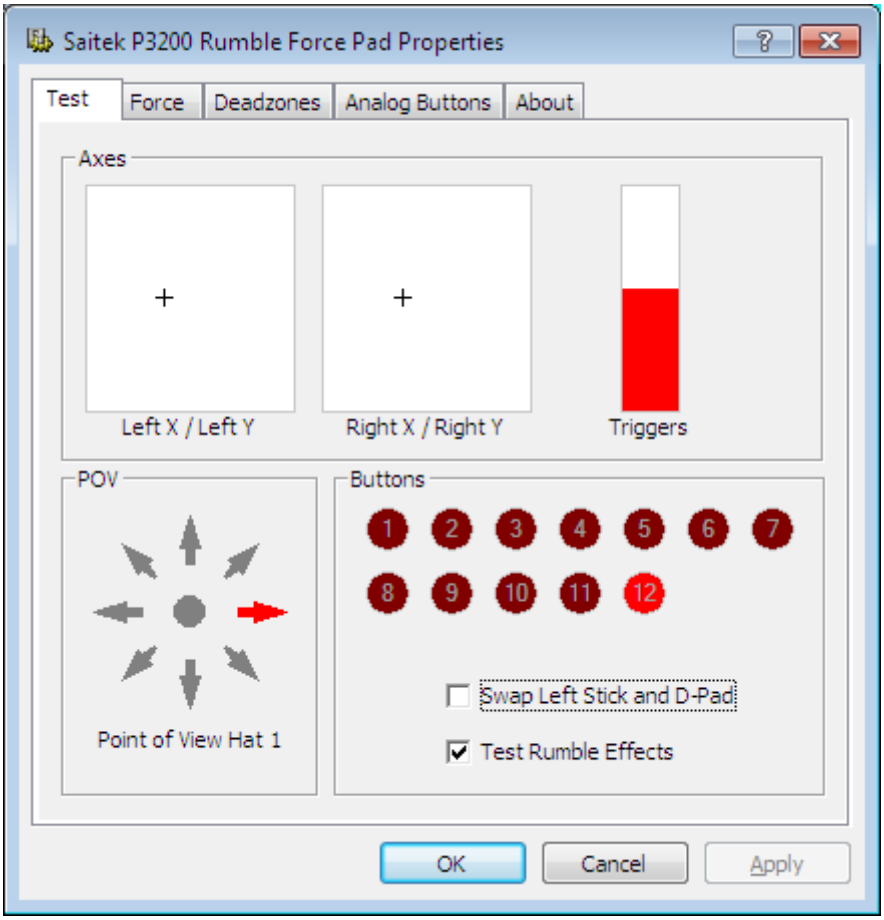
This is the wingman with the left and right analog joysticks, and D-pad activated.

Note that the Gemini cannot see the left joystick.

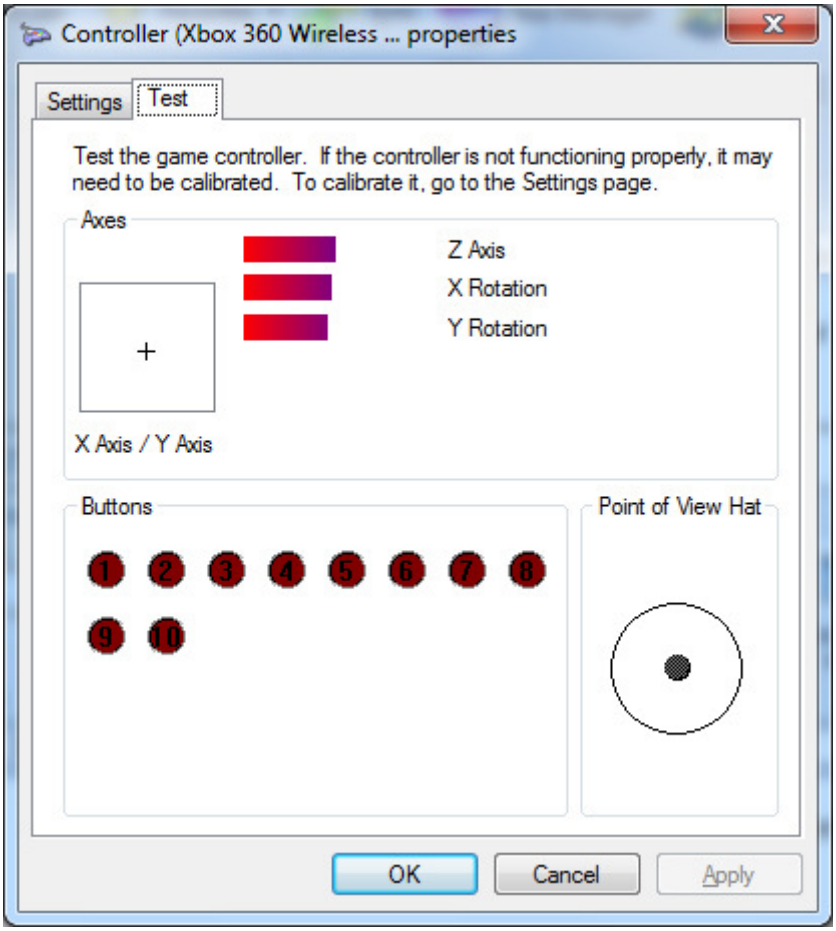


This is the Saitek with no analog controls activated.

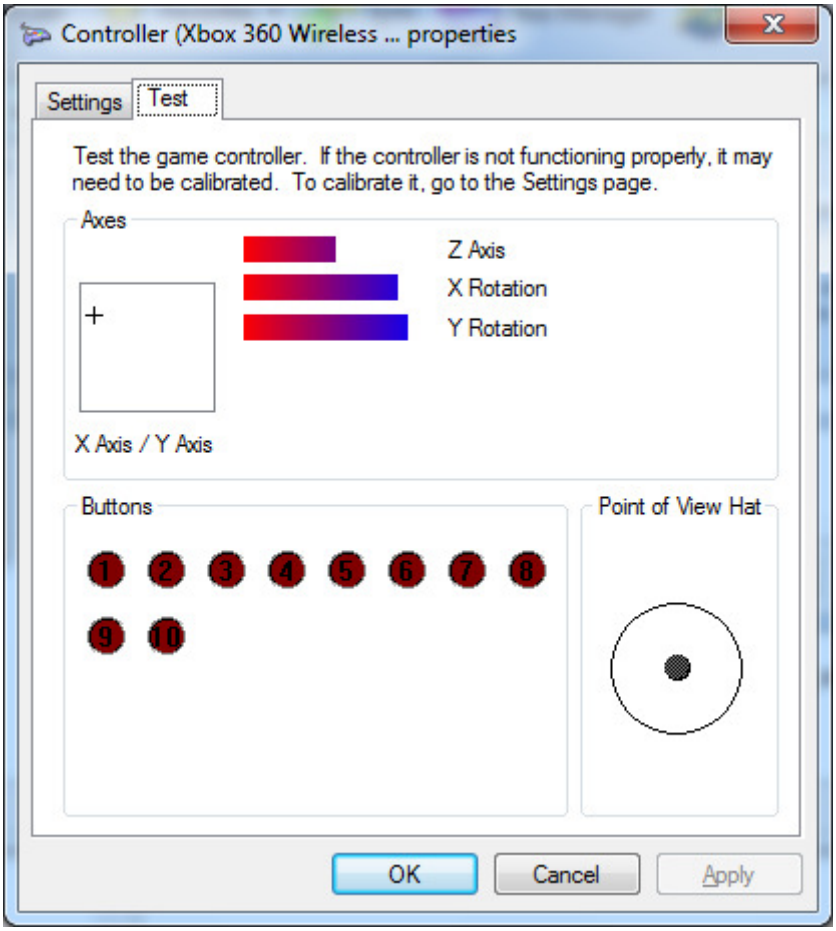


This is the Saitek with the left and right analog joysticks, and D-pad activated.

Note: Gemini Driver cannot see left joystick.

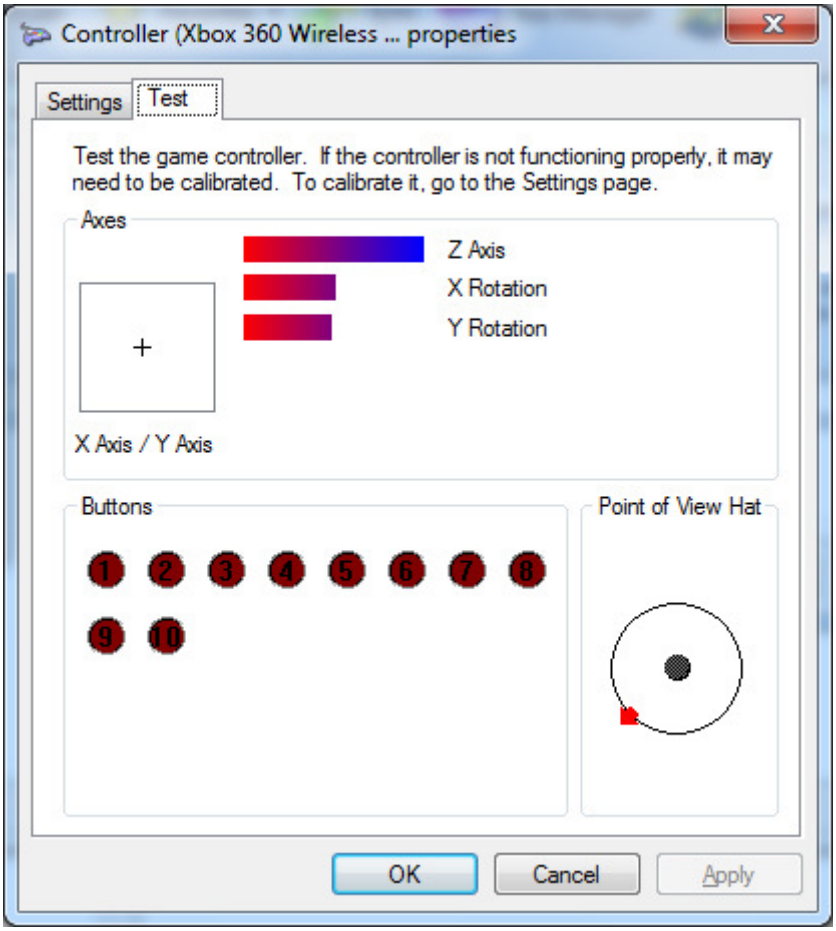


The Microsoft Xbox Wireless gamepad with nothing activated

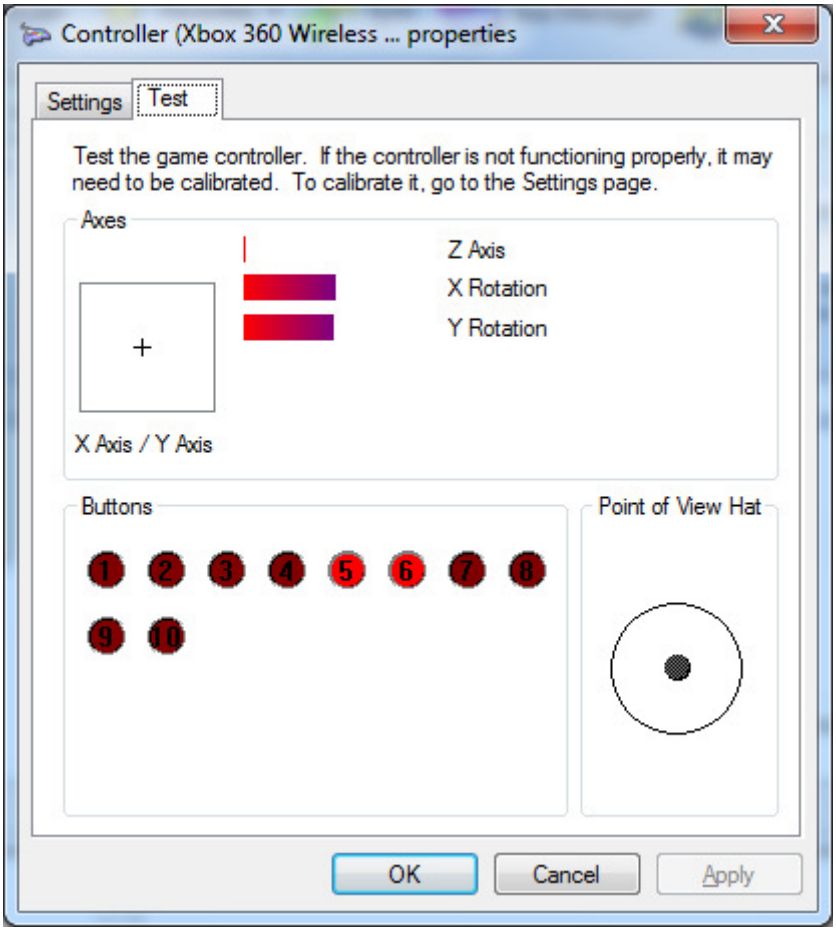


The Microsoft gamepad with the left and right joysticks activaated.

This is all that the Gemini driver can see.



Microsoft Gamepad with Left bottom trigger (Zxis) activated and the D-pad activated. Note: Gemini Driver cannot see these.



Microsoft Gamepad with Right bottom Trigger (Z Axix) activated with both top triggers. The Gemini driver cannot see the Right bottom trigger, but can see the 2 top triggers.